Join the fourth annual IEEE BioSensors conference in Bangkok, Thailand from August 2-4, 2026! Dive into four days of the latest biosensor developments, emerging applications, tutorials, and keynote sessions.

IEEE BioSensors focuses on research, development, and application of biosensors and biosensing systems. Biosensors involve the use of a biological or chemical element to transduce a target measurand into a signal. Biosensing systems include electrochemical, optical, mechanical, material, and other instrumentation associated with biosensor measurements as well as sample preparation/processing, sample interfacing, and data processing/analytical methods specific to biosensors.

Examples of applications - Point of care diagnostics & monitoring devices; microanalytical systems (lab on chip, organ-on-chip, cell-based biosensors); wearable & implantable devices; bioprocess technology; environmental monitoring (water, air); agritech (horticulture, veterinary); biological/chemical warfare agent detection; high throughput drug discovery & testing.
